

Jeffrey L. Hill, PhD

Healthcare Transformation Leader

Profile

A mindful leader experienced at putting value-based healthcare transformation into practice. I have built my career by innovating across business, clinical, and technical functions, aligning strategies and fostering partnerships and sustained collaborations within and among healthcare ecosystems. My colleagues and clients have described me as a passionate and agile change agent – driving a consistent cadence of value delivery, based on data-driven insights.

I work with providers, health plans, and technology companies seeking to improve performance, “operationalize” value-based care, transition to alternative payment models, and improve alignment and collaboration among diverse stakeholders.

Leading Purposeful Collaboration

I have a deep appreciation for collaboration. It is fundamental for transforming health care delivery and reimbursement, as well as for supporting an aligned culture, strategy, and business direction that delivers value. When properly executed, collaboration also promotes the interplay among people, process, and technology needed to improve efficiency, performance, and outcomes by...

- Aligning + Executing Strategies
- Leveraging Data + Analytics
- Deploying + Applying Insights
- Optimizing + Standardizing Processes
- Enabling + Integrating digital health
- Identifying + Adopting Innovations
- Leading + Managing Change

Operationalizing Value-Based Care

What I Bring to the Table

Research and Clinical Background – Worked with research, clinical, and business leaders to advance IT, data & analytics, outcomes research, and care process improvement at medical practices, hospitals/health systems, quality institutes, and accountable care organizations. Educated medical students, led cardiovascular research projects, and trained clinical fellows at the University of North Carolina.

Business Expertise – Provided executive leadership, operations and business development, and product/service commercialization for health care providers, health plans, informatics vendors, and consultants. Managed R&D and led business development for life science/MedTech companies.

Entrepreneurial and Agile Mindset – Founder and CEO of a publicly traded medical technology company. Created my own healthcare business development, strategic advisory, and consulting firm. Developed value-oriented subsidiaries and new business units for AMGA and other organizations.

Consulting Expertise – Provided product design, business development, strategic advisory, healthcare IT, data management, analytics & reporting, collaboration, and management consulting services. Served clients in health care delivery, commercial health insurance, Medicare and Medicaid, health information technology, digital health, life sciences, genomics

Transformation Acumen – Aligned and executed strategies for providers and health plans to improve clinical quality, operational performance, cost, patient and consumer engagement, and patient experience. Led programs and payer-provider collaborations to advance patient-centered medical homes, population health, and value-based care.

How I Achieve Success

I engage people proactively, fueled by intellectual curiosity and interpersonal flexibility. I enjoy helping organizations embrace innovation by interpreting the “why.” Connecting the dots between business, clinical, and technical, domains, I generate successful outcomes that promote improvement, resilience, and growth.

Known as a steadfast concept-to-execution driver, I am persistent in corralling consensus and translating value propositions. I possess an energy and enthusiasm that thrives in the challenge of the complex and that endures the uncertainty of the impossible.

Let's Connect

+1 919.949.5596

JeffreyHill@HealthValueAssociates.com

LinkedIn Profile